THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Get Good Move on itself and Elect Number of New Members.

At a meeting of the Commercial club directors last evening some important additions were made to the membership as well as changes in it. The additions were eighteen in number and consisted of one non-resident member, C. R. Durbin of Denver, president of the Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light & Power company. There were five new regular members elected, E. C. Allen, manager of the Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light & Power company; James Summers, probate clerk of Bernalillo county; Louis W. Galles, general manager for the State Life Insurance company of Indianapolis, Ind.; and Dave Weinmann, proprietor of the Economist Dry Goods store.

The new associate members, twelve in number, are Charles White, bookkeeper at the Bank of Commerce; Edward M. Chadbourne, engineer of the new electric line; Don J. Rankin, real estate and insurance agent and deputy collector of internal revenue; C. O. Cushman, junior partner in the firm of E. L. Washburn; J. A. Beal, of the Albuquerque Citizen; W. H. McMillon, real estate; Traveling Engineer James A. Carroll, of the Santa Fe; Walter Jaffa, of the Jaffa Grocery company; Sam Vann, the jeweler and optician; Dr. B. H. Briggs, the druggist; Harry P. Owen, stenographer to the district court, and Attorney Felix H. Lester.

The changes consisted in ten associate members becoming regular. They were Albert Faber, the carpet and furnishings merchant; Julius Stahl, the well-known capitalist; G. L. Alhimer, capitalist; Mayor C. F. Meyers, of the city of Albuquerque; Joseph A. Weinmann, owner of the Golden Rule Dry Goods store; Frank A. Hubbell, treasurer and collector of Bernalillo county; Attorney Herbert F. Reynolds; President W. H. Gilchrist, of the Manhattan Trust company; Geo. Arnot, manager for Gross Kelly & Co. and Arthur Everett, the jeweler.

This was a very good evening's work and speaks well for the popularity of the institution in public estimation and for the vigorous vitality of the club itself.

ASSOCIATIONS OF LADIES.

Are Numerous in Albuquerque—The Tuesday Club One of the Leading Ones.

There is probably no other place in the southwest where the ladies are so well provided with opportunities for social and literary intercourse among themselves, as they are in Albuquerque.

Besides the associations connected with the churches, and with the different brotherhoods and secret societies, and those organized for charitable purposes, there are several of a more exclusive literary and social character, whose meetings are held regularly and from which the members cannot but derive great good.

One of the chief of these is the Tuesday Club, the programs of which vary between literary, historical, social, religious and domestic themes. On yesterday afternoon this club met at the residence of Mrs. E. B. Cristy, South Walter street. The chief subject for discussion was the "Reign of Charles I," a topic which can never grow stale to the liberty loving people of Anglo-Saxon descent. Mrs. Stroup's paper on the "Scottish Covenanters," lay somewhat along the same path, while it had to do with one of the strongest and most interesting phases of religious development known in the history of Christianity. The question was, presided over by Mrs. Hickey, was devoted to "Housekeepers' Difficulties," showing that while the ladies strengthen mind and heart by their roamings through the fields of the past, they do not forget that vast domain in human society over which they reign supreme.

The next meeting, two weeks from yesterday, will be held at the residence of Mrs. Hickey. Mrs. Newcomer will lead the class study, Mrs. Birtwell will present a paper on "Cromwell and the New Model," and Mrs. Baldrige will address the club on "Leading English Statesmen of Today."

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends who so kindly rendered us sympathy and assistance both at the time of the fire and after the destruction of our home we take this means of offering our thanks. Your kindness will ever be gratefully remembered.

THE ERICKSON CASE

The Police Are Still Investigating but on Crooked Lines.

R. B. Erickson, the young man who was held up and stabbed Wednesday evening, is still at the Alvarado. His wound in the side just below the heart cavity is healing and giving Mr. Erickson very little trouble. Several suspicious characters were taken before him yesterday for identification but none of those present were his assailants.

The police are at a loss as to what to make of Erickson. He tells various stories about the affair and at times seems muddled. There is a possibility that the blow, which felled him on the night of the robbery, dazed him to such an extent that his mind is affected. And then again Erickson's stories are so varied that he is concealing something and is not giving a full account of the affair in which he received the knife wound. The police are still at work on the case.

THE SILENT DEAD.

Two Are Sepulchred and Two Take Journeys With Neither Knowledge Nor Pleasure.
The funeral of the late Dr. John Tas-cher took place from the residence of the family at 10:30 this morning. Rev. W. J. Marsh, of the Congregational church, made a brief address, replete with thought and wise suggestions, and above all with delicate intimations of sources of comfort to the bereaved. His central thought was that man physically considered is an exclusive entity. He is born, he lives and he dies within himself alone. But as an intelligent being he is connected with all about him, acting upon them while they react upon him. The speaker then referred to the wide sphere of influence in which such a man as Dr. Tascher moved, and of the vast void that was left in the family, the community, the world of thought and activity, by his removal from among men.

The pall bearers were Doctors Wroth, Grove, Elder, Fitzgerald, Alger and Wylder. Party Masons accompanied the remains of their dead brother to Fairview cemetery and at the grave side rendered their beautiful and impressive ceremony. Through respect to the memory of Dr. Tascher and in sympathy with their fellow student, Ralph, son of the deceased, the University classes were suspended and many of the pupils attended the interment.

The funeral of James G. Justice, the fireman who accidentally met death while coupling cars on the Zuni mountain road, Sunday last, were buried this afternoon from the chapel of the Strong funeral parlors. A large number of members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen were in attendance.

The remains of Wm. Demaris will be shipped tonight to Vienna, Massachusetts; while those of Charles Sullivan, member of the Elks lodge at Fairbank, will be shipped to that city tonight, instead of to Cincinnati, Ohio, as was at first proposed.

Elks' Notice.

All Elks are requested to meet at the parlors of O. W. Strong's Sons at 8 p. m. sharp for the purpose of escorting the remains of Brother Chas. Sullivan to the depot for shipment to Flagstaff, Arizona. By order.

This morning a turkey escaped from the coops of Trotter's grocery. It flew at first onto the wires which pass along North Second street, but almost immediately changed its headquarters to the roof of W. J. Trimble & Co's stable. Here it perched on the highest part of the ridge pole, about twenty-five feet from the ground. A local marksman fired at it three times, with the result that after each discharge of the gun the turkey simply gobbled its satisfaction. Finally, it wobbled off, and whether subsequently captured, this deponent saith not, for he knoweth not.

Col. E. G. Austen of Las Vegas was in the city this morning on his way home from Pastura, in the southern part of the territory, where he shipped a large consignment of fatted sheep from the ranch of Governor Otero and Secretary Reynolds, to the Bisbee, Arizona, market. Col. Austen, than whom no one in the territory is better posted on stock affairs, says the sheep industry in New Mexico is in a flourishing condition.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system: when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

NEWS OF CHURCHES

Coming to America.

The Rev. R. C. Fillingham, the Hexton vicar who is coming to America again this winter to make protest against forms of public worship observed in St. Mary the Virgin, New York, the Anson, Chicago; St. Mark's Philadelphia, the Cathedral, Fond du Lac, and other places, is just now in a controversy with the bishop of Bristol, England, and is figuring prominently in the London Times. After a courteous correspondence with the bishop of Bristol, and against the latter's wish, the Hexton vicar went to Bristol and preached in a Congregational pulpit.

Of course he crowded the church to hear him, and of course he said bitter things against ritualism in the church of England. He was forbidden by the bishop of Bristol to come into his see city and to preach anywhere, but he went just the same, in spite of the fact that word was sent to his own diocese, who might, had he been so disposed, have laid a penalty upon him. Mr. Fillingham says he is acting quite alone in England and that the societies seem afraid to cooperate with him. He will, he admits, represent only himself upon his visit to this country.

Episcopalians Undisturbed.

Reports from England are to the effect that conditions in the Establishment are growing steadily worse. That is, they grow worse from the evangelical standpoint. Ritualism is increasing, and controversies are becoming more bitter. On the other hand, the Episcopal church in this country, in spite of the Rev. Mr. Fillingham's heated ideas, is not all disturbed. This is remarkable, in view of the very close affiliation between the communions in the two countries. Inquiry among the most far seeing of Episcopal leaders brings the information that not one of them is able to discern a ripple. Ritualism is not growing, and the ritualists are less prominent in Episcopal church circles than they were five years ago. At any rate, this is the testimony on all hands. At the church congress, just held, as at the bishops' conference of a fortnight ago, the tendency of addresses was decidedly towards the Protestant bodies; if not actual union with them, a larger recognition of them in all possible ways. Against the movement in this direction not a single protest was heard and yet there were present at those gatherings, men who might be expected to make protests, did such feeling obtain in America as obtains in England.

Religious Education.

While the Religious Education association is not opposed to this international Sunday school scheme, it contains men who have opposed their scheme stoutly, and it was organized at a time when there were breaks in the lesson committee. It claims to have, however, larger plans for religious education, that are inclusive of the international plans, and perhaps helpful to them. The association has recently elected a general secretary. He is Ira Landrith, L. L. D., of Nashville, a lawyer and the most prominent layman in the Cumberland Presbyterian church. He is a native of Texas, large in body and heart, a political reformer and if predictions prove true, an educational reformer. The aim of the association is better methods in religious education, not alone in the Sunday school, but in all directions. The charge is made that it leans toward the liberal school in theology, but to this it is replied by its leading members that it leans rather toward the progressive side of things. Dr. Landrith has already entered upon his duties, with headquarters in Chicago.

American Cardinals.

Roman Catholics who are best informed do not look for an early addition to the number of American cardinals. They realize the numerical standing of the United States and also its financial strength, but difficulties inherited from the past stand in the way of an early recognition of American claims. For centuries the Roman church has held the balance of power, it holds it yet, and it will take many years to dislodge it. Nobody but an Italian can be chosen pope. The sacred college contains, when full, 70 members, after the traditional 70 disciples. The number cannot be increased, and nobody believes an attempt will be made to increase. Italy has 38 of the 65—for the college is never full. Two new cardinals just created raises the number to 67, France, Spain, Germany, Austria, Ireland—all these must have their historic number. France might be reduced, but no other European country can be. So where are the American cardinals to come from? It is not, a question of having Archbishops Ireland, Ryan, Farley and others who are able leaders. It is a question, and is realized to be a question, of balance of power in the college, and the inability to dislodge that power from its Italian hands.

Religion and Politics.

Safe Catholic leaders in this country also realize, and are pointing out, the unwisdom of recent attempts to couple the president of the United States and the national government with Vatican plans, both in regard to the St. Louis exposition and the Philippine situation, the school question in Cuba and the creation of additional American cardinals. The president and other government officials have recently been compelled to deny, with emphasis, any part or lot in Vatican affairs. Catholics leaders deplore the necessity for these denials, and they are taking steps, as is known, to suppress the sending out of newspaper reports which would make it appear that President Roosevelt is concerning himself about the management of Roman Catholic affairs. These leaders have no real wish, they say, to make things appear other than they are, and they have no wish to ignore the rights of Protestants. Zealous they may be, but they wish to recognize the rights of other people, and they are indignant that indiscretions are putting them in false lights before the country. The administration is taking no part of Catholic politics, and really able Catholic leaders do not wish it to do so.

Orange Grove Festival.

Opened With Flattering Success—Oyster Luncheon.

The Orange Grove festival, given by the ladies of the Episcopal church, was opened today with an oyster luncheon, at which the patrons were served with the succulent bivalves in any method of cooking or non-cooking desired. Thanks to the free luncheon furnished by W. L. Trimble & Co., the attendance was quite large, and the ladies were highly gratified at their initial success. The banquet tables were decorated with yellow pumpkins and yellow ribbons. Each pumpkin, having had its top and contents removed, formed an attractive vase for a profusion of ferns. The two together conformed to the festival colors, yellow and green.

Colombo hall, in which the festival is being held, is decorated with green and yellow paper, while the green orange trees and their yellow fruit are strictly in the same line of colors. It may be stated, sub rosa, that the orange trees are handsome young pines from the Zuni mountains, and the oranges themselves are made of orange colored crepe paper. But then each orange contains a prize, valued at from five cents to $100, the real value is much greater. Everything having been consumed the ladies are determined to give every patron more than money's worth.

On entering the hall, directly in front is the Ladies Home Journal booth, presided over by Miss Erickson. This booth consists of a hollow square, which arises pillars supporting a canopy. The colors of this booth are red and black, the canopy being composed of narrow strips of paper or these colors, as are the decorations of the pillars. Here subscriptions are taken for the Ladies' Home Journal, and handsome engravings furnished by that periodical are sold.

Then comes the Japanese candy booth.

Here Mrs. J. E. Saint presides assisted by eight Japanese young ladies, but recently arrived from Okohama. The canopy of this booth is made by an immense Japanese umbrella. The American colors are used for decorations, but the candies are served in Japanese baskets and bags and upon Japanese grass-plated mats.

The stage represents a Japanese garden scene, and is decorated with evergreens, lanterns and scenery. On this stage and tomorrow evening there will be a continuous vaudeville show.

This evening J. C. Patterson and his little daughter, and A. Actly Sackett will be prominent attractions. Mr. Sackett will cut innumerable all-nighters, and Prof. Patterson will display his athletic powers. Spot Moore will personate a Chinese juggler, Frank Springer and Kenneth Lamme will render popular songs and dances, Duncan Bell and Miss Grace Houghton will sing, Elwood Albright will give a coin act, and the Japanese octette will be in full force. They are the Misses Walton, Willy, Hazledine, Hunt, Thomas Flournoy, Lewinson and Fitch. They are thoroughly Japanese all except names and these have been adopted since reaching this country.

Tomorrow a New England lunch will be served from 11 to 2, and the free bus will continue to run. Luncheon will be served tonight and tomorrow night from 6 p. m. to the close. A vaudeville matinee will be given for the children at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

J. T. Dugan of St. Charles, Missouri, was in the city this morning on his way home from Culiacan, state of Durango, Mexico. Mr. Dugan is president of the Amazon Gold Mining company, located at Chacala, eighty miles from Culiacan. The mine has been worked for 100 years or more. Mr. Dugan was in New Mexico for the first time in 1889. He said to a Citizen reporter that: Investments in Mexico are growing in popularity with American investors, because they have no strikes in the southern republic.

Jeff C. Lewis, representing the Fletcher Confectionery company of Kansas City, a pleasant and competent young man, was in the city last night, on his way to Las Vegas from Los Lunas, where he sold a large order to the general merchandise firm of that place, Hunsing & Connell. The young men are laying in a large stock of goods in every line of their business.

Don C. Hall.

To Appear at Colombo Hall During the Week, November 30 to December 5.

A few facts with regard to this great actor who is to visit us, taken from an interview with E. N. Spivey, who is Mr. Hall's law partner.

It can be truly said of Mr. Hall that he is the greatest actor of any time, combining as he does in his work all the elements necessary for social, artistic and financial success. He is a graduate in law and theology.

Educated in ancient and modern scientific principles, an orator of much force and power, a brilliant conversationalist, and above all a painstaking artist in his dramatic work. Entering into the very being of the character he presents with an earnestness unsurpassed by any actor. He has a strong and striking personality, a powerful voice, expressive eye and wonderful face expression. Not only is he an actor, but an actor, but also an author, having written several very successful literary plays. All this combination of ambition and real talent have earned for Mr. Hall the title of "The Millionaire Actor," as he is the wealthiest actor manager in the United States.

From California and the far west to the green fields of Virginia his success has been without a parallel. He is ably assisted in his work by Mrs. Don C. Hall, an emotional actress or grace and beauty, who does her share in making friends for herself and talent.

MEAN TRICK.

Emporia Boy Wants the Locomotives to Play Fair.

The other day Emporia railroad man was going home and overheard the innocent remark of a little 5-year-old boy that is somewhat descriptive of the differences in the sizes of the engines now in use, says the Emporia Gazette. The engines go around the way in twos and threes, and as many as are ready to couple together are taken around. The little boy was watching a string of engines go past east. The front engines were headed east and were immense Prairie type engines of the 1000 class. The third engine was the little 046, the Howard branch engine, which looks like a toy alongside the big compounds. The tea-der of the 046 was coupled on to the big engine next to it. The small boy watched the engines for a block or two and then remarked: "Well, I think that's awful mean; those two big engines pulling that little fellow around by the tail."

RATES MUST COME DOWN.

Mexican Government Rescinds Its Advance Order.

An order has been issued by the Mexican government canceling the advance in railroad rates allowed a few months ago. The order will become effective November 20.

In speaking of the order a railroad official said:

"We asked for an advance because silver was away down, and our profits were cut down on that account. Now that silver has recovered in part, it is natural to expect that the rates should come down again. The gain in silver will largely counterbalance the loss through the reduction in rates. The higher rates were in force so short a time—a little over two months—that they have not greatly helped us. A good deal of freight, carried under long-term contracts with shippers, has paid the lower rate all along. If the higher rates had remained in force their full effect would not have been felt until such contracts had run out and been renewed on the higher tariff scale."

"On the whole, I do not think the Mexican railroads have nearly so much cause for complaint as they had two years ago. The business of the republic is stronger, heavier and on a firmer basis. The country has learned what benefits arise from having a government with a backbone and will never put up with old brand of government again. That is the security that lies behind and beyond the future of the Mexican railroads."

IT'S A STAYER.

Comes Quickly, But It Comes to Stay—How a Albuquerque Citizen Got Rid of It.

Comes early, stays late.

No stranger can be more unwelcome.

Makes life a misery all day long.

Keeps you awake nights.

Irritates you; spoils your temper.

Do you know this unwelcome guest?

Ever have it come and stay with you?

Know what it is? Eczema.

If you ever had any itchingness of the skin, you know how hard it is to shake it off.

You would like to know how to do it?

Let a Albuquerque man tell you.

Read this statement that follows:

A. M. Whitcomb, nursery, corner Eighth and Tijeras streets, says:

"In my estimation there is no ointment for the purpose that is used that can equal Leuco's. There was a spot below my knee which annoyed me for ten years. Unlike eczema it did not spread out, but at times it itched so exasperatingly, particularly after I went to bed or sat up the stove, that I scratched it until it smarted before relief came. I tried every salve and ointment I came across; when one did not help I bought another and slapped it on. Reading about Doan's Ointment induced me to go to the Alvarado Pharmacy and pay four bits for a box. In a few days the itchingness ceased and the life of the part effected was killed, for up to date, and it is now over six months since I stopped the use of the salve and there has not been a symptom of its appearance."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
